organize the Vth International Workshop on Layered Materials to be held in Mulhouse, France, August 27-29, 2014. This conference is a continuation of a series of specifically targeted Workshops on Layered Materials previously promoted by Universities in Italy, Germany, and Brasil every two years.

Scope of the Conference

The works in the Vth International Workshop on Layered Materials will focus on different types of layered materials the chemistry and structure of which may lead to highly technological solids, designed to display improved properties.

The theme "From the bulk to nanosheets..." will be tackled during topical sessions on:

- rational design and synthesis of layered compounds
- characterization and modelling
- functional and multifunctional materials,
- applications.
